Rusted Off: Why is Country Australia Fed Up?

Gabrielle Chan

As Australia prepares for a federal election, the contest for rural and regional seats is likely to be one of the most fascinating aspects of the 2019 poll. Already, country independents are pushing incumbent MPs against a backdrop of disappointment and disengagement with politicians and the parliament across the country.

Gabrielle will examine why politics is changing in rural areas and how it may impact on the outcome of the next election.

Chair: Emeritus Professor John Warhurst AO
