2025 FORUM SERIES

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO POLITICS?

Why has politics become so adversarial?
Why can't we communicate with each other?
Why has politics gone off the rails?

A public forum will be introduced with preliminary remarks by Dr John Warhurst AO, Emeritus Professor of Political Science at the Australian National University, followed by general discussion among attendees.

The meeting will be recorded and the video will be published on the CES website.

Professor Emeritus John Warhurst AO

John Warhurst was Professor of Political Science at ANU from 1993 to 2008. In 2009 he was awarded an Officer of the Order of Australia (AO) for services to political science and the community. He is an expert on Australian politics and government, and author or editor of 20 books on Australian politics and society. He is a media commentator and for 25 years wrote a weekly column for the Canberra Times. He was the founding chair of Concerned Catholics Canberra Goulburn and is a former president of Christians for an Ethical Society.

The courage to listen

Our reluctance to listen is legendary, and there are many physical and psychological reasons why that is so. The first and most important reason why we so often fail to listen is that we don't have the courage to do it.

Hugh Mackay, The Good Listener, 1998.
